여러분을 똑똑하게 만드는 음악 공부

Hi, students! This is your principal, Mr. Johnson. Today, I want to talk to you about the

I know many of you think that music has nothing to do with academic success. ① But recent research suggests that music is not as useless as you think.

② In fact, playing music actually improves your language skills. ③ According to a new study, playing music makes you become more sensitive to sound. ④ And we all know that sensitivity to sound is important for language learning. ⑤

To encourage everyone to play music, we are offering free music classes this semester. You can sign up for different classes on our school website. There will also be a free orchestra concert every Friday. I hope many of you participate in these events!

1. W: What are you doing, Chris?

M:I am listening to classical music. Do you want to join me?

W: No, thanks. That sounds

M: It may be boring, but it helps you focus better when you study.

W: Really? I once went to see an orchestra, but I fell asleep boring , but it helps M: Some people find it relieve stress.

W: I thought classical music always makes people feel sleepy . Maybe I should try listening to it again.

M: You will find very enjoyable like other music.

2. W: Kevin, you look down . Is everything okay?

M: I got a low score on my quiz.

W: What was your score?

M: I got 88 out of 100.

W: That's not too bad at all . You shouldn't worry.

M: But I spent a lot of time preparing for I only slept three hours the night before the quiz.

W: Still, I think your score is good.

M: You think so? But I won't get an A.

W: Try to be less sensitive to your academic records.

What matters more is that you study and learn.
